

SUBJECT: Record Retention and Disposal	CATEGORY: Information Management	NO. 809
---	---	------------------------------

PREAMBLE

SIAS acknowledges that, pursuant to The Local Authority Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (the Act), any person may apply to access any record SIAS produces or acquires during the course of delivering its programs and services. SIAS also recognizes its duty to: maintain its records only for the duration of their useful lifetime; preserve its records that have historical significance; and, protect certain records that are exempt from disclosure under the Act.

While it is the responsibility of SIAS senior management to be aware of and adhere to any applicable legislated or other applicable record-keeping requirement, this policy is designed to provide guidance regarding the retention and disposition of SIAS records. It establishes who is responsible for maintaining the safe and secure storage of records, what types of records must be retained, the length of the retention period, and what records can be safely and securely destroyed.

POLICY

SIAS employees and its board of directors will ensure the integrity of all SIAS records. Any record created or received by SIAS employees or its board of directors, regardless of its format, is the property of SIAS.

All SIAS records will be retained and/or disposed of in accordance with this policy. Records not referenced will be managed in accordance with any applicable laws or regulations, or in compliance with the Saskatchewan Administrative Records Management System 2006 (ARMS 2006) or established and documented organizational and/or divisional guidelines.

SIAS employees must protect personal information about an identifiable individual in accordance with the requirements set out in The Local Authority Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act and Confidentiality of Personal Information and Records of Applicants and Students policy #1204.

The record holder is responsible for a record's retention and disposition. All SIAST records must be stored in a secure and/or suitable environment, be easily accessible and retrievable when required and, except for an act of God or other occurrence beyond the control of SIAST, protected against accidental destruction or loss. SIAST records that have enduring legal, operational or administrative significance will be preserved for as long as they are required. SIAST records that have historical significance will be retained permanently.

Disposal of SIAST records must be appropriate, timely, authorized by the appropriate manager, and carried out in a secure/confidential manner. Enhanced security measures must be followed during the storage, handling, transportation and disposal of records containing personal information or confidential business information.

Any unethical, malicious or unauthorized disclosure or disposition of SIAST records will not be tolerated. Severe violations will be dealt with in accordance with the provisions of Policy Development and Administration policy #506-G.

DEFINITIONS

1. Record means a record of information in any form and includes information that is written, photographed, recorded or stored in any manner, but does not include computer programs or other mechanisms that produce records [ref: The Local Authority Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act, S.S. 1990-91, c. L-27.1].

Examples of records include emails, information stored in any electronic records management system (e.g. Banner), electronic databases, documents, letters, memorandums, handwritten notes, agreements, papers, manuals, reports, journal books, drawings, sticky notes, etc.

2. Personal information means personal information about an identifiable individual that is recorded in any form, as more specifically defined in Section 23 of The Local Authority Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act.
2. Record Holder is the department, office or person responsible for the creation, distribution, use, maintenance, and disposition of a record. A record holder is responsible to ensure that appropriate security measures are in place when managing or disposing of records. The responsible out-of-scope manager has ultimate accountability for a division's official records and is considered the Official Record Holder.
3. Permanent Record includes any record that is vital to the continued functioning of SIAST or that has lasting historical significance. Permanent records have enduring fiscal, legal, administrative and archival value and are retained indefinitely. Wherever possible, permanent records should be retained in both original and electronic format.

President & CEO	Institutional Secretary	May 25, 2011	New	2 of 22 #809

4. Administrative Records and Operational Records relate to administrative functions or the operations and services provided by SIAST. These records have a specific life-span and may be disposed of after their required retention period. Prior to destruction, administrative records and operational records should be appraised for any continued organizational value and/or required extension to their retention period.
5. Transitory Records includes records of temporary usefulness that are needed only for a limited period of time, to complete a routine task, or to prepare an ongoing document. They are not required to meet statutory obligations or to sustain administrative or operational functions. Once they have served their purpose, they should be destroyed. Examples of transitory records include duplicate copies, drafts and working materials, meeting notes after official minutes have been approved, telephone messages, print or electronic mail messages of short-term value, publications from outside SIAST, advertising mail, blank forms, etc., that have no further use.

Transitory records that have been substantially annotated (altered with hand-written or other comments or notes) that may have future value to SIAST will be filed with the master version.

PROCEDURES

Established retention and disposal guidelines and/or legal requirements for SIAST records may be found in the attached schedules:

- Schedule 1: Administrative / Operational (General)
- Schedule 2: Committee Records
- Schedule 3: Education and Program Resources
- Schedule 4: Finance
- Schedule 5: Human Resources
- Schedule 6: Student Records

The Saskatchewan Administrative Records Management System 2006 (ARMS 2006) manual may be accessed at <http://www.saskarchives.com/web/services-gov-sars.html> to obtain retention and disposal guidelines for records not referenced in the Schedules attached to this policy.

Information related to transferring records to the Ministry of Government Services' Records Centre for retention and subsequent disposal, including the Centre's shipping guidelines and requisite Records Transfer Form, may be located on mySIAST.
